“ Kay -- so sorry for your loss...I admire your strength, I didn't now realize that Mr. Fogg had just passed away as you were there offering your sympathy to us....Mr. Fogg was part of our family and daddy loved the many talks they had, reminicing over their careers and times in life...May God keep you and carry you through this difficult time.

“ Kay, I don't know if you remember me or not. My parents were Truman and Violet Freeman. My mother hired your mother to sell Avon. My dad and yours became friends. I will always remember that your dad painted our house when my dad was sick and when my dad was killed, your dad and mother were among the first people to arrive at our house in Hanceville.
I am so so sorry.
