“ One of my favorite memories with pawpaw was when he did the flea market down from grannys. The whole family would gather at the crows nest for breakfast then when we was all finished he would go to his spot behind the crows nest and I don't remember him ever selling much but every person who would walk by always got an ear full from pawpaw it was never bad stuff he would say but I no at the end of the day pawpaw always had a new friend. He was always so nice and sweet to every person he meet.
