“ My father was the best dad in the whole world. No matter where my brother and I were in our lives he always had words of advice and encouragement for us, and that was always followed by deep sincere prayers. He was our daddy, our counselor, our friend, our confidant but most of all he was our rock. I love you so much daddy.

“ Though we did not see Nick very often, we knew he was only a phone call away. Everyone who knew him will remember him as a good, caring, Christian man. His concern and attention to his former in-laws, Irene & Bob Pintavalle were part of his goodness. Bob has passed on, Irene at 90 years of age is now in a nursing home and always speaks highly of Nick - he described himself to them when Nancy passed away as their "son". Nick stayed in touch with Irene and visited her whenever he returned to Connecticut.. He will be missed by all who were lucky enough to know him.
With deepest sympathy, Aunt Norma, Uncle Paul, & Family
